Company Beginnings

BullAnt Security is a longstanding, trusted name in the provision of security products and services in Western Australia and remains privately owned. We are one of Western Australia's longest continuously operating businesses, established in 1893.

The earliest business began by providing the time-old, highly specialised master locksmithing to the WA government and early industry.

Over subsequent years, BullAnt Security is the combined brand of several merged WA iconic and specialised security businesses, including Coastal Lock Service, KeyWest Lock Service, Houdini Security and Harry Armstrong Locksmiths. These businesses each had excellent experience and reputation in locks, keys and master keying. Over the years we then began to expand our capabilities and experience and grew from specialised locksmithing to include access control, electronic security products and general security products.

Innovation and growth

We look out for product innovation and work closely with industry professionals and suppliers to regularly review and expand the range of security solutions available to you, our customer. Expanding our product lines with acquisitions and through product innovation enables us to provide you with the very latest in security developments and technology, supplied and installed by a company known for quality products and service excellence.

Today we provide solutions across the full spectrum of locking, access control, electronic security and security products and services. This gives our customers confidence knowing they can deal with one integrated security firm that will achieve their optimum solution.
